

In recent years, especially with the developments in IoT technologies, the number of people and applications using the internet is constantly increasing.